

Dodi Haug, B.S., CPS

Dodi Haug is the Prevention Coordinator at the Northeastern Prevention Resource Center which is part of the state prevention system in South Dakota. The NEPRC is housed at Human Service Agency in Watertown, SD. Dodi is a Certified Prevention Specialist under the Board of Addiction and Prevention Professionals and has worked in the prevention field for 25 years.

Dodi provides training and technical assistance in substance misuse prevention and mental health promotion. She is trained to deliver evidence-based prevention programs and practices such as ASIST (Applied Suicide Intervention Skills Training), Mental Health First Aid and Youth Mental Health First Aid, Overdose Lifelines, Interactive Journaling, SADD (Students Against Destructive Decisions), QPR (Question, Persuade, Refer), SPF Application for Prevention Success Training (SAPST), and Natural Helpers of South Dakota.

Dodi was trained in Natural Helpers when she first started in the field of prevention. Over the years, she has helped many schools with training and implementation of the program even through funding challenges. Within the last couple years, the Natural Helpers curriculum was updated to meet the NAPPP standards to become a Certified Peer Curriculum.
